WHAT IS SUPER NOVAE ?

Initially, an idea and a few profiles with extensive experience in the development world, around which the team was built to reach 40 people today, spread across 6 countries: France, Libya, Palestine (Gaza and the West Bank), Sudan, Tunisia and Yemen.

How to make the difference when you are new in the field?

Our strength lies in three key words:

IMPACT, AGILITY, LIABILITY.

Thanks to the implementation of our values, our donors, beneficiaries, and partners have entrusted us with their confidence and continue to do so. The European Union, France, USAID and WFP are currently funding Super-Novae's interventions.

Through our actions, we support the economic resilience of young women and men in countries affected by conflict, war or natural disasters, and thus encourage their financial independence and socio-professional integration, for a dignified life accessible to all.

OUR ACTION

In conflict-affected countries, young people face more challenges than others in obtaining their first jobs. We help them overcome these obstacles by providing the necessary technical support to create and develop their businesses, as well as the required vocational training to help them access better economic opportunities.

GLOBAL

HUMANITEASE brings together in one place all the tools to train NGOs according to the standards of the Crisis and Support Center (CDCS) of the Ministry of Europe and Foreign Affairs. It assists them in implementing their activities in a compliant, inclusive, impactful, and environmentally cost-effective manner.

OUR COMMUNICATION

In our eyes, communication means showcasing our actions through their human impact, constantly highlighting the trajectories of our beneficiaries, their life stories, and their connection to our projects.

Since the birth of Super Novae, we have been committed to developing and maintaining communication links with three communities:

- citizens of Europe, Africa, and beyond, curious about the state of the world;
- citizens in our intervention countries, whom we want to inform as much as possible about the basis, process, content, and actors of our projects;
- donors, whom we inform in real-time about the progress of our projects and the smooth running of our action.

Here are a few examples, among many others, of publications detailing Super Novae's activities

THE INTERNATIONAL PRESS

"The economic reintegration of young Libyan veterans is the fight of the French NGO Super Novae. Alongside some Libyan partners, with French and European funding, it oversees the training of 200 former combatants in Zintan and Misrata."

"Taking a different approach from policies that start from the top, the NGO Super Novae, funded by France and the European Union, launched a project in April that aims to target fighters and offer them opportunities for retraining in the private economic sector."

"Together, Aymen and Abdelmoutaleb have fought in almost every war since the revolution, sometimes side by side, sometimes facing each other. Today, they have laid down their arms to enroll in a retraining program led by the NGO Super Novae, funded by France and the European Union."

"Almissalati said her firm is setting up a 5 million Dinar (~$1 million) VC fund to invest in Libyan startups, but before they start writing cheques, they want to bridge the knowledge gap amongst founders. Tadawul, Almissalati's firm, has partnered with Super Novea to launch an accelerator program that trains founders for free and then connects them to investors."

"Super Novæ dispatched a team to the site [Derna, Libya] a few days after the storm hit, to take stock of urgent needs. "For 3 days, we didn't know the extent of the damage. Only one road was accessible to the town after Daniel hit. On the ground, Libya's two-headed system of governance complicated the coordination of operations", explains Alexandre Chatillon. {...} To meet this triple objective, Super Novæ has set up a multi-service assistance structure in Derna, equipped with a health center and its own medical staff, as well as a school relay."
